Fairness for Everyone Who Works

Work is important, and everyone deserves to be treated fairly. People who work should be paid enough, have safe conditions, and be treated with respect. When things aren't fair, workers can come together to ask for change. Everyone's voice matters, no matter how old you are.

You're never too young (or too old!) to care about fairness and help others. See more at:

In the picture is Dolores Huerta, a brave leader who helped workers speak up for their rights. She's holding a "HUELGA" sign, which means "strike" in Spanish. Dolores worked hard to make sure people who grow our food and do other important jobs are treated fairly.
